

Ike Reaffirms Nixon Choice

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN PREDICTED

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower made it "absolutely" clear Thursday that he still would be pleased to team up with Vice President Nixon on the Republican ticket this year.

The recuperating President also decided to go back to Washington, and the White House next Monday, or Tuesday.

It was Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who told reporters Eisenhower still would be happy to have Nixon as his vice-presidential running mate. From the President will have a chance to give the assurance to Nixon in person.

One-Hour Huddle

Hall flew in from Washington Thursday for an hour's political huddle with Eisenhower. Nixon arrives Friday, with Secretary of State Dulles, mainly to report on his round-the-world trip and call at six Atlantic capitals.

The expected rather than the unexpected came out of the Eisenhower-Hall conference and a subsequent session of the Republican chairman with the newsman.

There was word that Eisenhower will appear in person at the GOP National Convention in San Francisco in August to accept his nomination.

The assistant Republican leader, in the House, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will place Eisenhower's name in nomination.

At present there is "no indication" anyone else other than Nixon will be put in nomination for vice president.

The Will Campaign

Hall said the GOP will put on "a vigorous campaign" and Eisenhower will participate in it. But he appeared to be soft-pedaling an idea voiced Tuesday by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) that Eisenhower personally will campaign more actively than has been expected.

'Babysitter' Sent Note

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — Police disclosed Thursday that the July 4 kidnaper of Peter Weinberger signed the ransom note "your baby sitter." The signature was worthless as a clue because the family never hired a baby sitter.

Nassau County's chief of detectives, Stuyvesant Pinell, discussed with reporters details of the ransom note not hitherto publicized. He told them:

"The note had 35 or more words in it, which certainly points to premeditation and preparation."

Grammar Good

The grammar was correct and apparently the work of an adult, he added. Handwriting experts, however, have been unable to determine the age or sex of the writer.

Relaxing 'Disaster' —Dulles

... Asks Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles, pleading for more foreign aid money than the House voted, said Thursday "it would be a disaster" to relax now in the face of the threat of world Communism.

Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, went before the Senate Appropriations Committee one day after the House voted to hold foreign aid appropriations to $3,800,000,000.

Radford testified that the "serious reductions" voted by the House, from President Eisenhower's request for $4,900,000,000, would "involve serious jeopardy to our security position and might well lead to a further weakening of the defense efforts to our allies."

The Dulles-Radford testimony was reported to newsmen by the committee after they appeared in a closed session.

The most that the administration can hope for is an increase in the foreign aid appropriation to $4,014,000,000, the ceiling set in authorization legislation that has already passed Congress.

RR Board Sets Date For Hearing On Bonds

The Railway Commission has scheduled a hearing for Sept. 14 on the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. proposal to issue $50,000,000 in common stock.

The commission said the request of R. E. Dutch of Grand Island for authority to construct and operate pipe line and storage facilities in Garden County was dismissed at the applicant's request.

Election Set For Aug. 21; Legal Ads To Be Resumed

... City Ballot Called To Solve Problem

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

The Journal-Star Printing Co. informed the city Thursday afternoon it will continue to publish legal advertising under the old rate until the holding of a special election in August.

The action followed an informal decision by the City Council to call for an election Aug. 21 in an attempt to get voter approval of an amendment to the City Charter.

The amendment would eliminate the set rate of 25 cents for 10 lines of agate type and would shorten the number of publications.

Theo Berg, city finance director, said late Thursday "I appreciate the attitude of the papers in coming to our rescue." Berg added public acceptance of the Charter amendment in effect will result in a savings both to the public and the city.

This will be brought about by lessening the number of publications of certain notices, such as advertising for bonds, assessment notices, plans and specifications for construction, and others.

Change Defeated

A change in the ad rate along with amendments shortening the number of legal ads required was presented to and defeated by voters during the last special bond election.

As a result, city affairs have been bottled up.

Five members of the Council, including Acting Mayor Pat Ash, approved a move Thursday to have a resolution presented before the Council Monday calling for a special election.

Only the legal ad rate amendment would be presented.

The election, decided unanimously by Council members present, is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $2,500 under a new voting system that would limit the number of polling places to 12 instead of the regular 104 in the city.

Only Two Methods

Ash told the Council members there were only two means of solving the problem of advertising legal notices, a requirement under city law.

These were the purchase of printing machines, to cost around $4,600, or the special election. If the ads were printed by the city, Ash said, the city would have to continue use of the Daily Reporter, legal news newspaper, and insert the ads into it.

Ash, who said Mayor Clark Jerry felt the special election was the only way to solve the problem, told the Council Aug. 21st would be the soonest the election could be held.

Councilman Bennett S. Martin stated at the meeting he thought the special election, if presented properly to the public, would be the only means of solving the problem.

Blame Bond Issues

Several Council members said they thought the inclusion of the Charter amendment change with the bond proposals in the recent special election brought about the defeat of the amendment.

Presented alone, the Council members felt the change in the ad rate would be acceptable to voters.

City Attorney Jack Pace noted that changing the requirements on the number of legal notices required would effect an economy in the long run and would be less expensive to taxpayers than the present system.

Berg said setting up of only 12 precincts would not be a problem and could legally be worked out through the election commission office. This method of handling the election, which would cost about a third as much as special elections involving all city precincts, was questioned by Councilman Rees Wilkinson.

Assurance Given

Wilkinson noted the having of only 12 polling places could result in gerrymandering and that the polls could be set up in districts known to be favorable to the amendment change. He was assured this wouldn't be the manner in which the location of the polling places would be determined.

The urgency of solving the legal ad problem resulted in the Council meeting Thursday morning. Since the city was thrown to its own resources in publishing the ads, publication of claims against the city, ordinances originated and passed, and contract notices has virtually stopped.

Such publication is required by statute before laws can go into effect.

The old law regulating the amount that can be paid for publication of the legal notices by the city has been in effect since 1886.

NANCE, BOONE ASK INSPECTION FOR DROUGHT

Nance and Boone Counties Thursday asked Gov. Anderson to be added to the list which has requested federal drought emergency aid.

Thirteen counties already were on the schedule for inspection by a U. S. Department of Agriculture official who came to Nebraska Wednesday from inspection of 36 Iowa counties.

Gov. Anderson's office said an effort would be made to include Nance and Boone in the itinerary.

The affected counties seek a relaxation of regulations to permit grazing of reserve acres in the soil bank.

Russia OKs Arms Ceilings

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko agreed Thursday to proposed Western ceilings on armed forces of world powers. But he stirred up a bitter anti-Communist barrage by assailing Western policies around the globe.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister told the U. N. Disarmament Commission Moscow is ready to accept Western proposals to cut to 2 million men each the armed forces of the United States, Soviet Union, and Communist China and to 750,000 each the forces of Britain and France. He rejected President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan.

Then he took off on blasts against the West, its defense pacts, and particularly American "monopolists" who are, he said, pushing the armaments race to garner huge profits.

Army Maneuver

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Rumors that a hand grenade was buried in the Robert Sanquist yard prompted Mrs. Sanquist to call the 3th Army. It sent a two-man demolition team which also used a mine detector on the adjoining yard of Lila Holmes. Lt. Charles Caldwell of Ft. Sheridan probed and dug for two hours but found only bottle caps, tin foil, pipes and assorted rusty nails. No grenade.

Angered, U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., retorted Gromyko had made a "scurrilous attack" on the United States in accord with the "worst type of Stalinism."

Lodge declared Gromyko is in no position to cast aspersions on policies of others "as long as Russia holds satellites in an iron grip from which the heroic Poles are trying to escape with the applause of the world."

In quick succession, delegates of Iran, Britain, France, Nationalist China, Canada, Australia, and Peru also replied to Gromyko. Gromyko looked grimmer than usual when he departed after the commission adjourned.

Pressure From Peanut Row Earns Everyone A Prize

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

"Look, they are all getting prizes," a voice said as nine happy contestants walked away from the pet show at Huntington School Thursday night, a prize ribbon flapping from the chest of each.

Each pet owner thought the show a huge success and probably went home to tell his parents how he won the show with the best dog in the world.

One dog owner announced to the judge that his canine was "part-Pomeranian, part something else."

The pet show judges were open to quite a bit of pressure from the peanut row.

Many wandered up to the judges and pointed out that the dog on the left or the third dog from the end had all the necessary qualities to make it a prize winner.

One flaming-red haired youth announced that he and his brother had a scrap over who should show the dog, but that he had let his brother show it. Incidentally, his brother was the bigger of the two.

The boy who received a prize ribbon for the biggest dog almost didn't get in the show. His large pooch kept dragging him away.

A small girl carrying a parakeet in a cage looked quite smug when she found all the other contestants had entered dogs. The "most unusual" pet ribbon award was in the bag.

The pet show was sponsored by the City Recreation Department as part of its summer playground program. Winners were:

Billy Hile, 3031 No. 46th, entered "Mickey," the largest pet.

Eldon Dietrich, 2930 No. 46th, entered "Elmer," the friendliest pet.

James Hesson, 2904 No. 44th, entered "Mac," the most lively pet.

SPEAKING OF BEAUTY

by Ralph

Has your hair lost its sparkle? Is it dull, lifeless, frizzy, dry, brittle? Have you tried some remedy or another? Have you asked yourself, "Is there a solution of a treatment that will give my hair?" My answer to you is a capital YES!

First of all, what happens to your hair when it has been sun-dried, over-bleached, wind dried, abused or just plain neglected? Let's try a one minute experiment.

Take a piece of rope, clothesline or string, which is made up of hundreds of strands, untwist the ends, see what happens? The strands separate and the rope or string has lost its strength and shape. Your hair is made up of strands just like the rope event that in hair they are called Keratin chains. When your hair has been damaged and neglected, these Keratin chains separate and your hair becomes dry, frizzy, hard to handle, brittle and lifeless.

What can be done about it? A new type of treatment, one that will knit the strands (or Keratin chains) together, and not just coat the surface of your hair since they cannot penetrate.

WELL, THEN, what is the proper treatment to make your hair look alive and beautiful once more? A professional product available only to beauty salons.

and their patrons. Is it magic? Yes, in a way, the magic and wonder of hair research, chemists who have recently developed, after years of testing, a professional formula known as a HAIR PHARMACEUTICAL that will knit these Keratin chains together. Just think it takes a doctor to prescribe specific drugs to make you well. It takes a professional with professional products to treat your hair, making it lovelier and healthy looking.

Maybe your hair isn't damaged or abused. Do you need these treatments? As an extra precaution you owe it to yourself and your hair to protect it now against the summer days ahead from sun-baking and wind drying.

A hair conditioning treatment will brighten your hair with new lustre and life. Its natural color returns with new highlights. Gradually the neglected hair becomes easier to accept a permanent wave or a tint.

In fact hair conditioning treatment is a must before any hair service. Your hair will hold its set better and longer. Drop in and see us this week or sooner if possible. Call us for an appointment. We can help you and your hair!

From under the dryer: The average man is proof that the average woman can take a joke.

In 1819, when an army private's pay was about $6 per month, the companies at Fort Atkinson conducted daily target practice. If a soldier could place four shots out of six within three inches of the target's center at 100 yards—shooting offhand—he was considered a good shot. That WAS shooting!

Everything But Sincerity

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has thrust Russia into the limelight again as a great peace lover—a role it admires of late and plays wherever it finds nations gathered together.

This time the deputy told the United Nations Disarmament Commission that Russia is ready to waive its lower ceiling and comply with armament limitations set by the Western powers. But like all earlier Russian proposals there is a good deal of fine print in this new one. Gromyko said Russia would even support an end to nuclear tests, the elimination of stockpiled nuclear bombs and their further manufacture. Surely that is a catchy offer and some will take it seriously. But the gimmick in it is that Russia will not take any of the Western plan for international arms inspection, which in the absence of demonstrated and reliable integrity, is a realistic way of making disarmament agreements work.

Russia and other nations are to be reminded that the first assignment in any genuine disarmament program is deeds of good faith. Indeed, disarmament under any practical plan, or even almost none, would be rather simple if all participants were totally sincere.

Offers such as Gromyko has just made fall measurably short in the sincerity department and contribute little or nothing to the real cause of peaceful and tranquil living. Indeed, the only fact to be read into this one is that Russia, for one, is doing business as usual and the goal of disarmament is as remote as ever.

Can't Do It All

Lucile Lindberg, professor of education at Queens college, Flushing, New York, passed the word to Nebraska's teachers this week to "dare to be yourself."

She was one of the principal speakers in a two-day Nebraska University Teachers College conference appraising education.

Professor Lindberg dealt some sharp blows at the kind of teacher training that casts a hard pattern of conformity of method and approach—according to her, minimizes personality and individual influence. She observed, "Attempting to teach as someone else seems to think we should teach makes us dull and uninteresting."

Her professional observation delivered to co-workers is a matter best for those of the teaching vocation to judge. They know to what degree conformity holds them. To the layman a number of other fields of thought are opened by the occurrence of the conference and the provocation for the professor's remarks. Possibly no other field is more prone to self-examination than that of education, nor more concerned with its own failings. This abiding subjectiveness and willing but unrealistic shouldering of all the responsibilities of education is unrealistic and is making no forward contribution to a more dynamic and effective educational program.

Communities, parents and children cannot be counted out. They have their responsibilities, too. Principally they have it to consider that education is a maturing, essential and effort-requiring activity to be pursued with as much sober dedication as the later matter of making a living, of heading a family and of contributing to a high order of citizenship. So long as a teacher is competent in the field and diligent in teaching it as a reasonably well adjusted person he or she have no great need for constant self-examination. The nation's sagging educational field indicates need for a greater degree of self-sufficiency in other quarters than in the teaching force.

No Blushing Violet

Whatever else is to be said Nebraska's Game Commission Secretary Melvin Steen seems to feel that the state got a real bargain when it employed his services. He has been the center of a minor storm when he directed a game warden stationed at Falls City to withdraw a complaint for the allegedly illegal shooting of a quail from a highway last November during the open season.

Now Senator George Syas of Omaha has taken up the cudgel and he wants the attorney general to tell him whether Steen was within the proprieties legally in ordering withdrawal of the complaint against Commission Member Don Robertson of North Platte.

Here is an Associated Press account of Steen's contribution to current discussion. He said that he understood some people were displeased by his action in the Robertson matter.

"I am sorry if they are displeased because I'd like to please all Nebraskans if I could but my more than 30 years of experience tell me that it is impossible. The only course of action that I can follow is to do what I believe to be right and just. That is what I have done and what I expect to continue to do."

Steen, off-hand it would seem, was not appointed by the Game Commission to serve as judge or jury in the instance of any reputed violation of game laws in the state. He has, we assume, a reasonable measure of discretion in determining when complaints should or should not be filed but it is a discretion which should be drawn upon carefully.

Now comes Mr. Steen's classic contribution to discussion of the salary he receives.

"With respect to the salary being paid me, may I say that it is not a top salary as game directors go in these United States but it is a pretty good salary, relatively speaking. But then I'm a pretty good director, relatively speaking, and my services are not going to cost the people of Nebraska one penny for the full six years of my current appointment. Before I ever went to work for the state I saved the people of Nebraska more than the salary total. Following my appointment late in May I learned that more than $70,000 of Federal Aid money was about to revert to the Federal government and would have been lost to the state on June 30. Because of my long experience and intimate knowledge of the workings of the Federal Aid Act I was able to instruct the personnel of this department whereby this loss was prevented. I think the Nebraska Game Commission knew what they (it) were doing when they hired Mel Steen, and they know a good bargain when they see it."

Obviously Mr. Steen has a deep sense of modesty. We have no idea what it was that he did to save Nebraska funds allocated to it by Uncle Sam, but whatever it was outside and beyond the line of duty of the Secretary of the Game Commission, we should be more grateful to him, we assume, than we seem to be.

Ah ingratitude—where is thy sting?

Got Something

The government is suing a North Carolina Boy Scout group and others for $90,000—a distinction unrecorded in the annals of other Boy Scout outfits. What the government is mad about is that a few years ago it sold from war surplus a bomber for $300. The Scouts wanted it for a sea-air rescue training program. But the scouts did better than the government when they were through with it they sold it for $3,000. It was subsequently sold and re-sold, always for better prices finally once for $50,000. We don't know about the merits of the government's case. But it's that Boy Scout outfit most of us would like to join. That 1,000 per cent profit merit badge is worth going after.

Knows Right People, Business Prospers

WASHINGTON. — The least publicized relative of President Eisenhower, his brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore, is a soft-spoken, mild-mannered, retired Army officer who sits in a well-appointed but not overly ornate office in Washington's Walker building.

All around him on the walls are mute reminders of his relationship to the first family—an oil painting of Ike as a five-star general, photos of Ike and Mamie, pictorial highlights of the President's career.

Colonel Moore is not a man you would pick out in a crowd. He is gray-haired, well-groomed, self-effacing—almost the typical retired army officer transplanted to civilian boredom. He has none of the vivaciousness of his sister-in-law, Mamie, or his wife, Mike, who is Mamie's sister.

Officially Colonel Moore is an expeditor of airline business and a lender of money to nonskied airlines. In the days when the stanchly Republican New York Herald Tribune was launching its campaign against Harry Truman and the five-percenters, he would have been branded as such. But one doesn't use that term with Republican expeditors of business any more.

You can't help liking the colonel when you sit down to talk with him.

"I'm just an old soldier trying to make a living," he explains self-deprecatingly.

When you examine his business and compare it with his precarious pecuniary status shortly before his brother-in-law entered the White House, however, the conclusion is inescapable that he has done well. Like some of the lawyers and lobbysts who hung Truman's autographed picture on the wall and later got investigated by the Senate, Colonel Moore has prospered. He has not, however, been investigated.

STREETCAR SALE

Colonel Moore's name was potentially passed around Washington financial circles last week as a result of the biggest transportation deal in D.C. history—the $13,540,000 sale of the Capital Transit Company which supplies the streetcars and buses for the capital's ambulatory population.

For months, various groups had made offers to buy Washington's bus and streetcar system. Then suddenly, at a surprise midnight meeting, an offer was accepted from O. Roy Chalk, millionaire owner of Trans-Caribbean Airways. Similar or better offers were rejected.

In putting across his sudden deal to run the transit system, Chalk had the assistance of both Colonel Moore and his attorney, Edward F. Colladay, close to the Republican National Committee.

Chalk, however, went out of his way to conceal Moore's connection.

It has now been definitely established, however, that Colonel Moore introduced Chalk to Robert C. Baker, executive director of the American Security and Trust and a Capital Transit director; that he telephoned Harry McDonald, a rival bidder, and urged him to get together with Chalk, not compete with him; and Colonel Moore, franker than his associates, acknowledged to this column that he had helped put the deal across "in a small way."

Senate Study Of Chotiner Slated

WASHINGTON. — The Senate Investigating Subcommittee this week starts its study of the metamorphosis of Murray Chotiner from a California criminal lawyer, 90 per cent of whose clients were bookmakers, into a well-paid practitioner before the independent agencies and boards of the federal government in Washington.

Chotiner managed Richard M. Nixon's successful campaigns for the senate and vice-presidency. At the recent governors' conference, Governor Goodwin J. Knight of California told this reporter that the vice-president personally instructed him to "deal with Chotiner" in the selection of Nixon's one-third of the state's delegates to the Republican national convention.

In the hands of the senators will be analyses by Subcommittee Counsel Robert Kennedy and Accountant Carmine Bellino of the Chotiner records, finances and correspondence.

Authoritative sources say that among the correspondence are letters to Chotiner signed by Sherman Adams, Deputy president, and Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall. They are described as dealing with matters Chotiner was pursuing in behalf of his clients.

The past June 28 Kennedy interviewed Hall at Republican headquarters regarding these leads. Hall is said to have replied that he could not remember any such dealings with the Los Angeles lawyer.

Until recently, however, Hall employed Chotiner as an ace national committee lecturer on how to defeat the opposition in the Nixon manner. A transcript of Chotiner's exposition before a national committee campaign school here was published last week.

The first step, Chotiner explained, was to tear down your opponents; otherwise "the odds are you are doomed to defeat." He advised calling opposition arguments "smears" and said Nixon had had great success with the approach. "I've been told I mustn't talk about this" and, then, start talking about it.

Since the Chotiner law practice came under subcommittee scrutiny, Hall has announced that the committee would not use Chotiner in this year's campaign. Hall said the committee now had sufficient staff of its own.

While Hall made himself readily available to questioning, Sherman Adams poses a problem that will be put to the senators for solution.

Repeatedly, White House aides have refused to answer the questions of congressional committees, pleading the doctrine of the constitutional separation of powers. Budget Director Hughes and Atomic Chairman Lewis Strauss pleaded it in the Dixon-Yates investigation. More recently Chairman John L. McClellan of the investigating subcommittee ran up against the same stone wall in his effort to get the full story on East-West trade.

About Presidents Past And Present

NEW YORK. — There's a rash of new books emerging for election-year reading. Fascinating stuff, generally.

Cornell Prof. Clinton Rossiter's provocative study "The American Presidency" has just emerged in a 55 cent Signet Key book edition. It's packed with facts, fables and features on presidents past and incumbent, and the nature of their awe-inspiring job.

"Government is people and it is just as simple as that. Get good people and you have good government. That is what I have tried to do," said Dwight David Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman put it another way: "There are probably a million people in this country who could do the presidential job better than I, but I've got the job and I'm doing the very best I can."

"The American presidency" contains a valuable appendix, every word of the constitution which bears on the presidency, including such dusty provisions as "when the president of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside."

Former newsmen Lamont Buchanan has put together a lively, informative, picture- and cartoon-filled book for Dutton called "Ballot For Americans." The old cartoons are more wonderful than the modern day photography. So must have been the arrival for inaugural ceremonies of presidents of the past. George Washington's, for example:

"The trip (from Mt. Vernon) was a triumphal procession. Repeatedly the president-elect was forced to halt to acknowledge the greetings of his countrymen along the way. Reaching Elizabeth town point, New Jersey, Washington was feted by a group of officials and then put aboard a splendid barge specially built for the occasion, manned by thirteen pilots resplendent in White Uniforms. Other decorated barges joined the fleet of vessels, and the whole colorful flotilla moved slowly up the bay of New York, viewed by thousands from the shore.

President Washington, who deplored political parties and won all 69 electoral votes cast in the first presidential election, would have scratched the powder out of his wig trying to figure out an article in the current issue of "Sponsor," a TV and radio trade journal. It's a debate between two advertising men on TV's impact and responsibilities in an election year.

"In some ways the Republicans tried to sell their 1952 presidential candidate like a tube of toothpaste, and to all indications, they'll be using TV in a similar way to sell their 1956 candidate," claims Lloyd G. Whitebrook, of Kastor, Farrell, Chesley and Clifford agency. Conscientious research revealed that Mr. Whitebrook is a registered Democrat.

Lemonade And Turtles For Sale, Cheap

By MONA B. PARKER

The time of year is reminiscent of her childhood for Mrs. J. W. Tyler, Peru Pointer columnist... before deep freezes took some of the taste-fun away from seasonal delicacies... Now there is no looking forward, as she once did, to "sun-ripened strawberries, delicate garden-fresh peas and apple sauce from the early harvest orchard corner..."

Jim Conway feels sorry this time of year for anyone in Spalding or elsewhere who "is on such a strict diet that he can't eat that strawberry shortcake..."

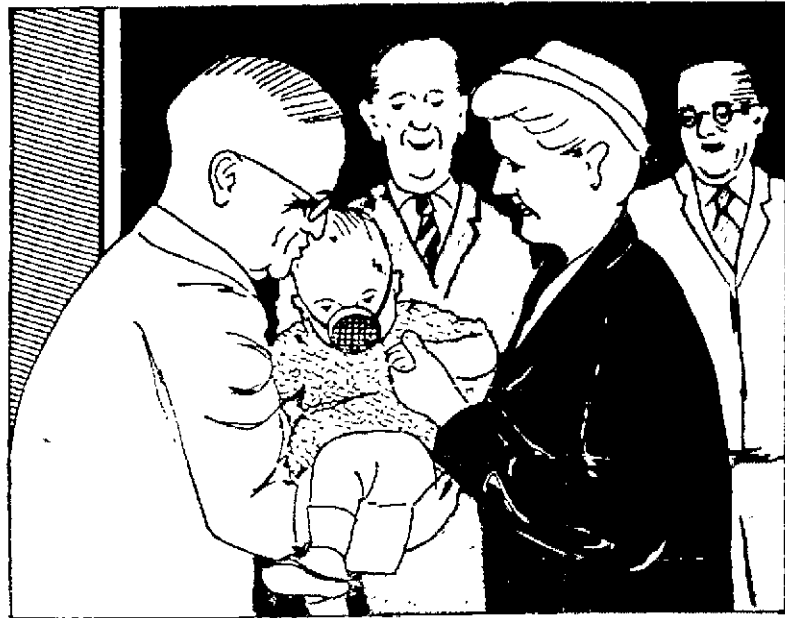

The Comstock News assumed the attitude of a lenient schoolmaster, tolerant of a hooky-playing, cloud-chasing youngster, with its South Bridge correspondent. A farm woman, she reported to her editorial bosses that the reason for the small amount of news she had turned in was because her telephone was out of order...

"I'm not so sure," shouted Ed Krikac, "because it's about raspberry pickin' time..."

Arch Jarrell is embarrassed. The Grand Island editor planted a wisteria tree, finally wrote the nursery a wrathful letter that the plant was dead... and the next day it began sprouting leaves.

Another summertime pursuit of the small fry to be found on every side street of every small town in the country was in evidence in Rushville... Various and assorted business establishments, junior grade, were sprouting up for their brief glorious day in the sun... sidewalk tea shops and soft drink emporiums where one might quench his thirst to the tune of three cents... operated by little girls in starched pinafores and wearing pert pony-tail hairdos...

The most unusual business among the tiny tycoons was operated by one Craig Bannerman, Virg Hill is reasonably sure that Harry Truman does not intend to run for office again. The Fairbairn bases his conclusion on the fact that the Missourian went on record the other day and refused to kiss a baby on the grounds it is unsanitary from the baby's viewpoint.

who set up a table in front of his mother's beauty shop and offered for sale 15 turtles. No one knows where the midget merchant procured his wares, but he disposed of them all in short order, closed up shop and called it a day...

Winnipeg, scene of disaster, flash floods, had a spunky and somewhat philosophical attitude toward the whole sloppy business. Stan Smith expressed it for all of them when he said that there are supposedly only two things that will stop progress — hell and high water. Their recent misfortune having eliminated half of this time-honored menace, says the Breeze editor, "barring many hot days, we should have smooth sailing for a while..."

Sandhills cattle country is dry this year, according to Melvin Wilkins, Syracuse, and perhaps drier of all is the region around Valentine... "The valleys of the Elkhorn and Platte rivers are verdant preludes to the brown ranges. The farm lands in Sheridan and western Cherry County provide the other half of the rain belt slice that has the dry Sandhills in the middle like a sandwich."

A writer for the Loup Valley Queen expresses a forceful opinion on crossed bridges, and urges that when they are to be replaced, they be replaced with straight ones, even though a longer span is required. He also urges that some thought be given to steel construction rather than the traditional wood. "Wouldn't it save money in the long-run? As long as the Loup is what it is, and as long as flash floods occur periodically, our wooden bridges supported with timbers are going out. Short-sighted waste of the tax money, say I."

Humane Treatment

Tecumseh, Nebr.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I'm wondering why the state of Nebraska does not have a humane law that can be enforced in small towns to prohibit people from tying dogs for days, even weeks, without food and even worse, without water. If there is such a law, who has the authority to enforce it?

HANNAH MCNERNEY

Editor's note: State and local laws prohibit any such cruelty to animals. Notification of local law enforcement officials should bring quick action, relief to the animal or animals involved, and punishment for the guilty parties.

New County Jail

Lincoln, Nebr.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I believe the new county jail should be built at its present location. This site would cost the taxpayers nothing, as it is already on public property. We are now told—after election, of course—that the city jail can accommodate all the county prisoners. Therefore, there would be no housing problems while the jail is under construction.

The county has the cash without floating any bonds for doing the job. So why the delay? Let's get the jail show on the road. Certainly everybody including the ministers are in favor of a new jail house.

Perhaps city officials should condemn the jail building as unsound, thereby forcing county officials to get busy on this necessary project. Or are we to assume that the county jail was merely an item of propaganda intended to fool the voters?

Who Can Help?

Western Germany
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I ask the help of Star readers on a personal problem. I am an emigrant from Tschechoslovakia, of German nationality. In 1951 I fled to Austria and from there I went to West Germany in 1955 because I was afraid I could be brought back to Tschechoslovakia, when the Austrian state contract would come into action.

Although I have found a job here, I intend to immigrate to the United States. I have no more relatives. My father died in a concentration camp and my mother died a year later. Her death was the result of deep sorrow. To find a better establishment in the United States, I would like to contact relatives who came to Butte or Boyd Counties, Nebraska, in 1882. I don't know if they are still living there, nor do I have their address. We have had no correspondence with them since 1919. The name of my father's uncle is Adolf Koenig. He immigrated to Butte County in 1882. His native place was Wuerbenthal, Maehren. His wife is Theresia, born Groeger in Neudorf, district Roemerstadt, Maehren. They had a family in Butte or in the neighborhood of Butte, and they had four children. Two daughters were school teachers. Unfortunately I have no further information, but I believe my relatives can be found from this.

If my relatives do not answer, perhaps they are no longer living there, but I would be so grateful for any help. I should like to live, finally in freedom and happiness in this large country, after a time

Estes To The Fore

Omaha, Neb.

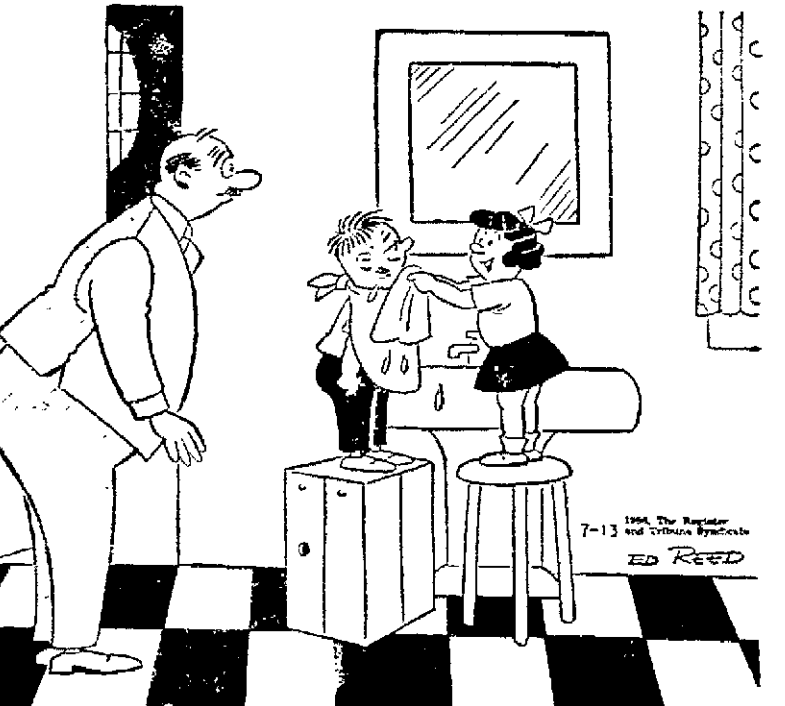

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: About eight years ago this writer on his own took a poll among passersby in downtown Omaha. For Truman 50, for Dewey 18. Meanwhile the know-it-alls were singing, "It's in the bag!" In fact everybody the other side of the RR tracks let it be known that poor Harry was ditched, and how. Now we know they were 100 per cent off. Had they taken the lightest poll, they must have wised up to the basic trend. But they like to mimic that which has been served up as the "expert" opinion.

Now history plays one of its queer tricks. The very VIP who was so ill-served by some in high places now comes out with a statement that at least one fine Democratic candidate is persona non grata to the busy folk who like to run things their own certain way.

Communism Has Better Chance Than Ever—Walter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities warned Thursday night "there is more possibility of the success of the international Communist movement now than at any time in the past."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), referring to policy shifts in Russia, said "the new course that Stalin's successors are taking is having a tremendous impact in the free nations, in the so-called neutral nations and even regrettably in the United States itself."

Walter told the 37th annual encampment of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars in a prepared address "we are urged

Southern, Western

Favorable weather this week has pushed Nebraska's wheat harvest and much of the harvest will be finished by this weekend in western and southern Nebraska, the Nebraska State Employment Service reported Thursday. Many combines are moving north to the Alliance area and a few are returning south, the agency reported in a wheat harvest bulletin.

The supply of men and machines remains adequate. The harvest in the Hastings area was estimated to be 85 to 90 percent completed.

The harvest is over from McCook north to Imperial and good weather should finish up even some still green fields west of Imperial.

Good weather also will wind up the harvest by the weekend in the Grant and Ogallala areas, and in the Chappell area with 60 to 75 percent completion around Sidney.

In the southern Panhandle the harvest was in full swing. Good yields were reported common in Deuel County. Many areas said to be producing up to 40 bushels per acre. Kumbia County prospects were listed.

Re-Districting Hearing Slated
Lincoln Star Special
HEBRON, Neb. — A joint school re-districting proposal is scheduled for hearing at the Thayer County Courthouse here next Monday morning before Thayer County Superintendent Harold Reed and Miss Emma Renken, Fillmore County school head.

The hearing involves the proposed transfer of Thayer District No. 15, bordering the Fillmore County line north of Carleton, partly to Carleton's District 26, the remainder to the Shickley district, No. 34, in Fillmore County.

The district includes four sections of land with a total assessed valuation of $143,765. Of the thirty-two 80s, 17 propose to consolidate with the Carleton district, the remaining 15 plan to join Shickley. The petitions are 100 percent, bearing the signatures of each of the 15 legal voters of the district.

Following the joint proposal Supt. Reed will hear a Thayer County action to transfer approximately 570 acres of land near Hebron, owned or operated by Edward Corliss, from District 23 to Hebron's District 7.

This petition has been signed by 12 of District 23's legal voters, the first instance here in which the majority of a district's voters have sanctioned the transfer of land out of their district.

Goldwater State GOP Keynoter

... At Sept. 17 Meet

SEN. GOLDWATER

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona will be keynote speaker for the Republican State Convention at Grand Island Sept. 17.

R. E. Speltz, Jr., Hall County chairman, is executive secretary for the convention which is to open at 9.30 a.m. at the Capitol theater.

Edison Smith of Omaha heads a committee on revision of the State Republican Party constitution which will be a major item of convention business.

William W. Spear of Fremont, state central committee chairman, said other convention committees and plans will be announced later.

Sen. Goldwater, a World War II veteran and a colonel in the Reserves, is the only member of Congress qualified to fly jet aircraft, according to the state central committee.

His mother, the former Josephine Thompson, lived in Alliance, Neb., before her marriage and his cousin, Gen. Paul Thompson, lives there.

Teacher Must Work With Pupil--Henzlik

Teacher-training programs must provide experiences so teachers can learn to work with pupils rather than working for pupils, the University of Nebraska Teachers College dean said Thursday.

The dean, Dr. Frank E. Henzlik, a Teachers College-Educational Policies Commission conference being held in Lincoln.

"Teaching no longer is confined only to presenting subject matter," he said, "for teachers must know their pupils, their backgrounds and points of view."

Old Idea

The old idea, he said, was that a pupil or any human being was only a receiver of ideas and experiences rather than a perceiver. Citizenship education, "which in our time has a special air of immediacy," has been making great strides in recent years, a Baltimore educator said at an earlier session of the conference.

Harry Bard, assistant director of the secondary curriculum bureau of the Baltimore Public Schools, said a need for more science teaching is important today, but there are many problems which cannot be solved with scientific knowledge alone.

"For example," he said, "we know more about making steel than ever before, but the current strike can be a major catastrophe for the U.S."

Such problems, he said, are "in human relations, not in science."

Another conference speaker was George F. Anderson, associate executive secretary of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Aurora's Burned Out Classes Relocated, To Open On Time

Lincoln Star Special
AURORA, Neb. — The Aurora School Board Thursday formed a temporary plan to house students whose classroom facilities in the two-story north high school building were destroyed by fire.

Supt. E. B. Humann reported he expected no delay in the start of school, scheduled for Sept. 4. The school, he said, will have to obtain textbooks, desks, and other equipment before that date.

The school board will meet with officials of the state Department of Public Instruction and architects and engineers Friday to consider "future needs" of the Aurora school system, Humann said.

A new $490,000 high school building is under construction, and scheduled for completion next year, but it is planned to house only the four high school grades. So, Humann said, it will be necessary for the board to provide permanent facilities for students of the fourth through eighth grades.

Half Insured
"The insurance from the old building will help," he said, but "it won't be enough." Some $120,000 in insurance covered the estimated $350,000 loss.

Humann said there was a strong possibility that Friday's meeting may decide that a new grade school building will have to be constructed, possibly on the site of the burned building, and "this will require a bond issue."

Friday's meeting, he said, would also be concerned with salvage of the almost-entirely destroyed building.

High school classes this fall will be held in the Hearn building, near the burned structure, according to Humann. However, he said, the

Permit OK'd For Women's Dorm At Union College

Union College took out a building permit at the City Hall Thursday for construction of a $500,000 women's dorm. Ground was broken for the structure in February.

The new dorm, built in the same style as the recently completed men's dorm, will accommodate 250 women and should be completed by September of 1958, according to Harvey Hartman of the college.

Construction on the building, which was delayed because of "a mixup on steel," will begin shortly, Hartman said.

The dorm will contain office and cafeteria facilities and will be located at 3800 So. 48th St.

The "Sunday Journal and Star" delivered at your door is full of interesting and timely features. You'll like the sports section too.

school board must still find "two additional classroom units" in order to house all the students in the high school of about 300.

The seventh and eighth grades will hold classes in the Crusade for Christ auditorium.

The Aurora Country Club will be the new home of sixth grade classes.

The board, Humann said, is making arrangements to house the fourth and fifth grades in three churches.

The other grades and the kinder-garden were not affected by the blaze, since their classes were not held in the high school building, Humann said.

Meanwhile, inspectors from the State Fire Marshal's office said that the theory that the blaze started from a workman's blowtorch has been completely discredited.

The fire quite possibly started from defective wiring, G. E. Ekstrand of the state office said.

'Greatest Red Danger To Radio-TV From Young Performers'—Witness

WASHINGTON (U)—A former Navy intelligence officer now serving as professional consultant on Communism to the radio-television industry said Thursday the greatest danger of Red infiltration is among the younger performers.

"It is advantageous to their careers, if not to become party members, at least to become 'progressives,'" he said. "They are afraid if they don't go along they won't get opportunities."

The testimony came from Vincent Hartnett of New York at a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The committee is inquiring into a "Report on Blacklisting" in the entertainment world, sponsored by the Fund for the Republic. Hartnett testified that "not more than five per cent of the Communists in the entertainment business have been uncovered." He said there were probably 150 Reds in the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists and "also Communist blocs" in Equity and the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Officials of both AGVA and Equity challenged Hartnett's testimony. Jackie Bright, national administrative secretary of AGVA, said in New York: "We defy Hartnett to show that there is a single Communist in AGVA, let alone a Communist bloc."

Alfred Harding, assistant to the president of Actors Equity, said in New York that "over a period of 30 years allegations of this kind have been advanced with varying degrees of responsibility" and added:

"Every member of Actors Equity Assn. who has been identified in any way in this connection has denied under oath that he is a Communist and no evidence has been presented whether those charges are true."

Hartnett told the House group that Communists can command the support of about 400 members of AFTRA, but he said some of these are sympathizers rather than actual party members. He said approximately 30 members of AFTRA's New York local have been identified as Communists.

Hartnett denounced the "Report on Blacklisting" as "dangerous slanting." He said "blacklisting" was a "nasty term," which he said had been used by editor John Cogley as "a blanket term both for the good and the evil."

"Ignorant Or Rogue" Asserting that Cogley "consistently suppresses evidence" and "puts forward distorted versions" in the report, Hartnett said: "The man is either woefully ignorant, or he is a rogue."

Hartnett described as "an outrageous falsification" a contention in the report that a sort of self-appointed board of "clearance men" can have individual performers blacklisted and then "clear" them.

The witness testified he frequently helped "rehabilitate" actors and actresses but was "never in the business of acting as a clearance man for performers."

Hartnett said it was "dangerous slanting" to apply the term blacklisting to people who refused to hire Communists and sought to weed them out of the industry.

Asked if any individuals have been unjustly accused and denied the right to work, Hartnett said there had been "a few isolated cases" resulting from mistaken identities. He said he always did what he could to straighten these cases out.

Cross Your Fingers

THIS IS the day we all cross our fingers and wish on a white horse — or a bale of hay if one has no white horse — This is "don't" day — Don't let a black cat cross your path, don't walk under a ladder, don't open an umbrella in the house, don't — Oh well, we'll say it and be done with the whole thing — It's Friday, the 13th.

SUFFICE to say that we aren't the least worried about the day and date — Neither had any effect on what concerns us most — news.

Thought you might be very

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Barbecues — picnics — parties — new neighbors — vacationists — and that is just a brief outline of events in South Hills this week, and now — on with the news.

Included in our list of vacationists this week are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kissinger, Debra and Steven, who returned last Sunday, from South Dakota, where they spent a week in the Black Hills, and western Nebraska where they spent a day or two at Chadron State Park. The Kissingers visited in the home of Mrs. Kissinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Rateils, and with Mr. Kissinger's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kissinger both of Atkinson.

And leaving for the Black Hills this Saturday morning, will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hornby, and their son Jack.

Before continuing with news of our vacationists, we want to say "welcome" to our new neighbors in South Hills — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kees, who moved to Lincoln six weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Kees resided at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Lott, before moving into their new home last week. Mr. Kees is the new chaplain at the State Penitentiary. While conversing with Mrs. Taylor, we also learned that she spent last week in Chicago visiting Maj. and Mrs. R. L. Jenks and their daughter Mary Lynn. Her son, Dennis, was a guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenks, Susan and Allen, Des Moines, Ia.

Although Minnesota is a favorite vacation state for Nebraskans, we must turn the tables, and welcome Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Lorenz, Hoffman, Minn., who will arrive in Nebraska to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Spilseth.

Col. and Mrs. Frank Puerta were Saturday evening guests of their neighbors, Maj. and Mrs. John Frazer.

And it is time to call your attention to a party, which was given by Mrs. Raymond Bohling in honor of two of her new neighbors in South Hills. Joining Mrs. Morris Blackburn and Mrs. Lavern Bohling, who recently moved to Lincoln, at Mrs. Bohling's home on Thursday evening, were Mrs. Maurice Wachter, Mrs. Robert Beadell, Mrs. Ed Baker, Mrs. Dale Adams, Mrs. Avery Linn, Mrs. Price May, Mrs. Art Dennis, Mrs. Bob Zimmerman, and Mrs. Bernard Heelan.

Understand that Capt. S. M. Spilseth, Maj. J. W. Frazer, Maj. C. D. Vollmer, and Maj. Norman McQuillen spent last week-end fishing at Alexandria, Minn. Wonder if the phrase, "We'll catch them you clean them" was successful with the four men and the distaff side, Mrs. Spilseth, Mrs. Frazer, Mrs. Vollmer and Mrs. McQuillen.

Also heard that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duden and their sons, Tommy and Michael, are going to Hastings this week-end where they will visit Tommy and Michael's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. August Duden and Mrs. Leo P. Kelley.

interested in the fact that Mrs. George Loveland of Norwich, Vt. is in town. Mrs. Loveland, who has been ill, accompanied her daughter, Dr. Grace Loveland, back to Lincoln last Tuesday and for the next month will complete her convalescence at Bailey's Sanitarium. After that she will spend several weeks at the home of Dr. Loveland which, by the way, is Mrs. Loveland's old home which she and the late Mr. Loveland built in 1903. The house was purchased a year ago by Dr. Loveland.

APROPOS of guests — understand that Dr. and Mrs. Ellett Drake will be coming from Detroit late in July to spend some time with Dr. Drake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Drake. Their daughter, young Miss Halle Drake, after spending the past few weeks as the guest of her grandparents, will accompany her parents back to Detroit following their visit here.

WE also learned that Mr. and Mrs. Joy Deuser of Billings, Mont., formerly of Lincoln, have returned home after spending several days as the house guests

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Thompson and their children, Ruth Ann, David, and Martha are planning to spend the week-end in Superior where they will be visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farrand, who are moving to Garland, July 20.

Mention of Mrs. Thompson reminds us that she and Mr. Thompson entertained at a picnic supper on Thursday when their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Farrand and sons, John and James.

Our neighborhood barbecue was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Taylor and Dennis on Wednesday evening. The guest foursome included Mr. and Mrs. Vern Walker, Tish and Mike.

Morning Ceremony

MRS. WILLIAM REZAC

Pedestal baskets filled with summer garden flowers appointed the chancel of Sacred Heart Church on Tuesday morning, June 26 for the wedding of Miss Edith Kraus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kraus of Beaver Crossing, and William Rezac, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rezac of Valparaiso. The 9 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Laurence Kalin, and Paul Geis, the vocal soloist was accompanied by Mrs. Richard Hesser who also played the wedding music.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Kraus of Beaver Crossing, sister of the bride, wore a waltz-length frock of pink tulle over taffeta, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Rezac of Martell, sister of the bridegroom, in the blue tone frock and Mrs. Stephen Benes of Raymond who wore a yellow, carried colonial bouquets of frock-toned carnations. Margaret Kohout, was her cousin's flower girl and the rings were carried by Larry Rezac, nephew of the bridegroom. Eugene Matulka of Valparaiso served as the best man and the guests were seated by Francis Kraus, brother of the bride and Stephen Benes of Raymond.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The snugly fitted bodice of lace was fashioned with a scalloped-framed portrait neckline and the long fitted sleeves were wrist tipped. The bouffant tiered skirt of tulle and lace was accented with a front panel of lace which extended to the floor-length hemline. A plateau of lace dotted with pearls held the fingertip veil of imported illusion to her head, and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Following a dinner at the Seward Auditorium, the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will make their home at 935 Elmwood, Ave., Lincoln. Mrs. Rezac attended Doane College and Concordia College and is a former member of the Seward County Public Schools faculty.

Back Home—Briefly

Back in town for a brief stay is Mrs. Allen Barnard who, with Mr. Barnard, is a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Eleanor Vogt.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnard arrived a few days ago from Parris Island, S. C. where Mr. Barnard served a three year tour of duty as a sergeant in the Marine Corps.

The visitors plan to spend the remainder of July in Lincoln, but will devote some of their time to house hunting in Bellevue where Mr. Barnard will be instructor of music in the public schools the coming year, and where the young Barnards will reside.

Mrs. Barnard, the former Betty Vogt, Alpha Phi at Nebraska, has been honored at numerous informal affairs since her arrival in Lincoln.

Picnic Supper

Members of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club met for a picnic supper Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Effie Mouden, 5929 Madison. The after-supper hours were spent informally.

Brides

Completing plans for a small family wedding is Miss Beverly Ann Finke who will become the bride of Allen E. McElravy on Saturday, Aug. 18. The service will be solemnized at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Elsie L. Walters.

For her maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Finke has named her sister, Miss Beth Elaine Finke, and Harold McElravy will serve his brother as best man.

The marriage of Miss Nina Ingram of Lincoln and Leonard Eugene Lohmann, Seneca, Kan., will be solemnized on Friday, July 20, and will take place at the Baptist Church in Silver City, Ia.

Attending her sister as matron of honor will be Mrs. Richard Cederdahl of Lincoln, and Miss Elsie Liermann, Lincoln, will be the bridesmaid. Lighting the candles for the 7:30 o'clock evening service will be Miss Virginia Sallaska, Lincoln.

Richard Lohmann will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Richard Nealy and Richard Cederdahl, both of Lincoln.

For Neighbors Only

A group of neighbors living on Dale Drive in Eastbridge awoke to the realization the other day that their 16 families were beginning their second year on the block.

To celebrate the occasion, the group will hold a second anniversary "block" party on Friday evening. The 16 couples will meet for dinner at The Steak House, after which the evening hours will be spent dancing on the lantern-lighted patio at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Wicks.

Co-hostesses in charge of arrangements are Mrs. Wicks and Mrs. James Hutchinson.

The group will include Mr. and Mrs. Wicks, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hirschman, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Art, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glatz, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Von Seggern, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Filbert, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hargreaves, Mr. and Mrs. William Heintzelman, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilson, Capt. and Mrs. David McEathie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lipps and Mr. and Mrs. Don Stockholm.

Courtesy

In pre-nuptial courtesy to an August bride-elect, Miss Peggy Baldwin, a kitchen shower will be given Saturday afternoon at the Legion Club in Hebron. Mrs. Jack Chapman, Mrs. J. V. Johnson and Miss Carolyn Richardson will be hostesses, and included among the Lincoln guests will be Mrs. Ralph Hill and Mrs. V. H. Baum.

Miss Baldwin, a member of Chi Omega at the University of Nebraska, will become the bride of Jack Allen Parris on Saturday morning, Aug. 18, at St. Teresa's Church.

Illinois State Auditor, Center Of Fund Probe, To Fight For Office

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U) — State auditor Orville S. Hodge, the center of a "snowballing" investigation of charges of funds irregularities, made it plain Thursday he will fight to stay in office.

Hodge, the dapper, 52-year-old reputed millionaire, told newsmen he expected to comply with Gov. Straton's ultimatum for a $100,000 personal bond on "Monday or Tuesday."

The governor Wednesday notified Hodge that he would declare the Water Supply Better Than '55

OMAHA (U) — There will be at least 80 per cent of normal inflow from the Missouri River Basin region above Sioux City the current year, the Missouri River Reservoir Control Center said this week.

The center said this will insure a considerably better water supply than that of last year when the runoff was only two thirds of normal.

As of July 1 water in storage in the main stem system Missouri River reservoirs was 1,715,000 acre-feet above June 1, the center said.

The dam by dam report was:

Gavins Point: releases from Gavins Point Reservoir totaled 1,774,000 acre-feet in June. The Gavins Point pool was held near elevation 1,190 the first half of the month, and then at about elevation 1,196 for the next 10 days, to permit construction of the boat basin and boat ramps on the reservoir shores.

Fort Randall Reservoir: Fort Randall releases totaled 1,991,000 acre-feet of water in June, of which 77 per cent passed through the power turbines, to generate a total of 140,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy.

Garrison Reservoir: June releases from Garrison totaled 1,956,000 acre-feet, of which 28 per cent was used for generating power. A total of 48,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy was generated at Garrison.

Fort Peck Reservoir: Fort Peck releases totaled 33,600 acre-feet in June, of which approximately 76 per cent passed through the power turbines. Total generation at Fort Peck during June was 29,000,000 kilowatt hours.

office of auditor vacant, unless Hodge could double his present $50,000 personal bond within 20 days.

There has been speculation that Hodge might have difficulty in getting a bonding company to put up the surety since his office affairs are under both state and federal investigation.

Hodge, however, said he would have "no trouble" making the additional bond—the maximum required by law for the auditor.

Earlier, sheriff's deputies were combing the city for him to serve him with a Grand Jury subpoena in the speeded up state investigation of his office. He turned up at the State House and told newsmen he had been in Chicago since Wednesday night and was unaware a subpoena had been issued.

Hodge later was handed the subpoena in his office. Hodge's attorneys were present when he was served.

State's Atty. George P. Courtrakon of Sangamon County is investigating 41 state warrants issued by Hodge's office totaling more than a half million dollars. Some of the persons named in the warrants or checks have denied they received any money or did any work for the state that required such payment.

Courtrakon announced a speedup in his Grand Jury investigation, summoning three key witnesses on Monday, instead of a week from Monday as originally planned.

At least a dozen separate investigations are underway or in prospect into the affairs of the auditor's office.

GOP Official Demands Wiley Retract Campaign Fund Claims

MADISON, Wis. (U. P.) — A leader of the regular Republican organization in Wisconsin demanded Thursday that Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) retract "false statements" about a $150,000 campaign fund Wiley said was promised his GOP-endorsed primary opponent, Rep. Davis (R-Wis.).

Wiley, in Washington, retorted that Thomas E. Coleman, former GOP state chairman, is "in no position to demand anything."

"I do not propose to change one iota of what I said," Wiley said in a letter addressed to "Dear Tom."

Coleman, Madison industrialist,

Dr. Covey Chairs Research Group

Dr. George W. Covey of Lincoln, president-elect of the Nebraska Heart Association, is chairman of a research policy committee named to draft permanent guidelines for its research program.

Dr. O. A. Kostal of Hastings, president, announced the appointment. Committee members will be two past presidents, Dr. Edmund M. Walsh and Dr. F. L. Dunn, both of Omaha.

Their first task will be working out agreements with the University of Nebraska and Creighton University medical schools for establishing full-time professorships of heart research.

who was floor manager for the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) at the 1952 Republican National Convention, charged earlier Thursday that Wiley "caused a false story" about the reported Davis campaign fund to be inserted in the Congressional Record.

He said in a telegram to Wiley that any agreement with Davis to raise the campaign fund "could be in violation of the law both for Mr. Davis and myself. Of course no such agreement was made."

Coleman added in an interview that he wasn't a member of the GOP State Finance Committee and hadn't agreed to raise any money at all this year.

"But from now on," he said, "I will be glad to raise money for the Republican party."

The $150,000 campaign fund first was reported in the closing hours of the Republican State Convention in Milwaukee May 26. Robert Dalton, a delegate to the convention that rebuffed Wiley's bid for a fourth term and endorsed Davis instead for the nomination, told newsmen that Coleman and three other prominent Republicans had promised to raise the $150,000 fund for the Davis campaign against the state's 72-year-old senior senator, who has been at odds with GOP regulars at home for several years.

Not Mentioned — Dalton later declined comment, then on June 5 told newsmen that the $150,000 figure was "never mentioned."

GOP State Chairman Philip Kuehn also said that "no responsible Republican party" official had mentioned any figure in connection with the Davis campaign.

In his letter Thursday, Wiley — who entered the whole exchange in the Congressional Record — told Coleman that "would-be kingmakers" have no real issues on which to campaign against him.

"I don't propose to allow any group of self-appointed kingmakers in Wisconsin to try to push me around, or what is more important, push the people of Wisconsin around."

"Kingmakers can, of course, order a puppet candidate. A kingmaker can demand something of a captive candidate. But no one is going to order around Alex Wiley, because I answer only to the people of Wisconsin."

Meanwhile Davis, campaigning at home with other endorsed candidates, said "the only puppet candidate is the man who became a puppet of the Acheson State Department. Wiley has had no original ideas that weren't spoon fed to him by so-called experts."

And Coleman, who warned Wiley that he would consider any repetition of the senator's charges off the Senate floor "extremely damaging," said he would not have any comment immediately on Wiley's response.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Remember 1932-1932 when the Democrats were indoors so long they scrapped the Weather Bureau?

That 20-year spree in subsidized cubicles sprains the two-party system on which equal representation is gingerly balanced.

The Democrats took it in their stride like it was a mat marked Welcome, Stranger. Along about 1940 they edited the floor motto to just Welcome.

Bat Hunt
BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—"Bat hunts" are a new sport in Bartow County because one of the flying mammals, which bit two persons, was found to have rabies. Volunteers who can't provide their own weapons can obtain shotguns and shells from the State Game and Fresh Fish Commission to kill the bats. The bodies are sent to state laboratories for study. A mother and son at nearby Alturas were bitten by the rabid bat when they tried to put the little animal in a cage.

WORLAND, Wyo. (AP)—Mrs. George Wood delivered a daughter in the back seat of her car 58 miles from a hospital recently while her husband was trying to convince a deputy sheriff they were in a hurry. But Mrs. Wood is nudging a little closer to the hospital for each baby. Four years ago she delivered another daughter on a prairie road 60 miles from a Riverton, Wyo., hospital. The Woods live on a remote ranch 88 miles from Worland. Four years ago they lived 100 miles from the nearest hospital at Riverton.

Coin Flipping Abandoned In Denver Yards

Charges Denied

DENVER (AP)—The president of the Denver Union Stockyards denied Thursday the flipping a coin during bidding on livestock "was in any way a conspiracy to control prices."

L. M. Pexton also told newsmen the system had been abandoned and a new program of bidding established.

His comments followed a report from Washington that the Agriculture Department may take new action soon in a case in which 22 livestock dealer firms are accused of controlling bids on cattle-curtailed competitive bidding.

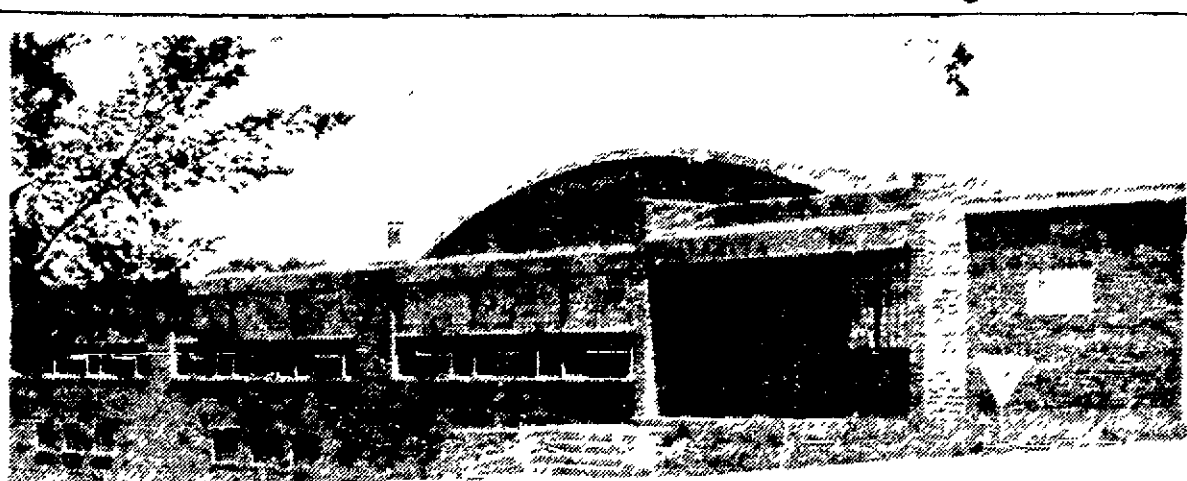

In its formal complaint, the department said the dealers—by determining the order in which they were to look at, bid and have the opportunity to buy cattle-curtailed competitive bidding.

The charges were filed June 18 under provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act. Those violating the act may be denied trading privileges for specified periods of time.

Petitions To Put Ton-Mile Tax To Vote 'Sufficient'

The secretary of state's office reported Thursday that petitions to place a proposed ton-mile tax law on the election ballot in November have been found sufficient. The petitions were submitted by the Committee for Better Roads through Fair Taxation, of which C. E. Beals of Lincoln is executive secretary. Deputy Secretary of State Roland Luedtke said 29,039 signatures were required to place the proposition on the ballot. In the 76 counties checked, there were 52,211 valid signatures. Two-Fifths Required State law requires that in two-fifths of the counties the number of signatures must be equivalent to five per cent of the vote for governor in those counties at the previous election. Luedtke said 59 counties qualified on this point, well over the 38 required. The necessary total of signatures in these 59 counties would be 15,344, but petitions from those counties actually carried 51,098 valid signatures, Luedtke said. The 17 counties which did not meet the five per cent requirement carried an additional 1,113 valid signatures. The remaining 17 counties will be checked, even though the petitions already have been declared sufficient to put the proposal on the ballot. Publication Required State law requires that proposals being readied for the ballot be published in full three consecutive weeks prior to certification of the ballot to the counties. Luedtke said publication of the ton-mile tax proposal will begin Aug. 6. It must be published in every newspaper in the state. Only the title, which cannot be more than 100 words in length, will appear on the ballot. Only "competent court action" would keep the proposal off the ballot after official publication of the text, Luedtke explained. Opposition James Ryan, Lincoln attorney, said Thursday an opposition to the proposition is in the "organizational stage." He said he had been retained by certain statewide groups and interested individuals to check the petitions for possible grounds to disqualify them. He said additional checkers will go to work next week, with the task scheduled for completion in about three weeks. Ryan said he would have nothing to say about possible court action until his check is completed.

Nebraska Pastures Said In Poorest Shape Since '37

Pasture conditions in Nebraska as of July 1 were the poorest since 1937, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

The condition was rated at 37 per cent, compared with 55 per cent a year earlier.

In some counties north of the Platte River, pastures were almost bare of feed. And while rains occurred in late June, grass did not respond rapidly, the agency said.

Hay Under '35

Production of all hay, based on the July 1 outlook, was estimated at 5,297,000 tons, compared with a revised production figure of 5,412,000 tons for 1955.

Thursday's report amplified on the crop estimates released in Washington by the Department of Agriculture Tuesday. It also reflected recent revisions in calculated production last year for many of Nebraska's crops.

Corn production was estimated currently at 198,624,000 bushels, compared with a revised 1955 production total of 107,424,000 bushels and a 10-year average of 220,863,000 bushels. The indicated yield per acre of 32 bushels compares with 18 bushels last year.

Low Oats Outlook

Oats was estimated at 24,780,000 bushels of 14 per acre, lowest since 1936 when yields averaged 11½ bushels.

Barley production was estimated at 2,898,000 bushels of 14 per acre, compared with 3,800,000 or 20 per acre last year.

Sorghum acreage remaining for harvest this year totals 1,296,000 acres, up slightly from last year and about three times greater than the 10-year average.

Soybean acreage of 185,000 also is slightly above last year and well above average.

As of July 1, corn stocks on hand in Nebraska totaled about 45 million bushels, compared with 77 million last year. Old wheat stocks totaled 10 million bushels, compared with 13,800,000 last year, and barley stocks totaled 912,000 bushels, compared with 712,000 a year ago.

Dotson Administers Oath To Nebraskans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lorne Kennedy, formerly of Omaha, Neb., was sworn in Thursday as assistant to Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton.

The oath was administered by Floyd E. Dotson, the department's chief clerk, in Seaton's office as a group of friends, including Sen. Hruska and Rep. Weaver, Nebraskan Republicans, looked on.

'Meter Maids' Aid Revenue

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—"Meter maids" are making Scottsbluff parkers time conscious.

Two "meter maids" were hired in mid-May and since then parking meter revenue has jumped. June revenue hit $4,978 compared to $2,973 in June last year.

"Meter maids" Mrs. Fred Schulz and Mrs. Richard McKee "are doing a fine job," Police Chief Cecil Rhoades said. "We have the best meter enforcement in the city that I can recall."

The women check meters, collect violation fines placed in special boxes on downtown streets and sometimes fill in on the telephone desk at the police station.

POSTCARD

By AAA estimate, 20,000,000 personing Americans will be on the highway this summer when all sensible people should be sitting home in front of a fan.

Summer vacation business has now reached some fantastic figure —18 billion dollars, I seem to remember.

So the other day, I rode over to Dallas, Tex.,

to see Mr. Paul Ridings, the Mastermind of Master Hosts.
Sixty-seven independent motel owners, knit together by teletype and the idea that if you move the Biltmore onto a highway, a good many people will stop by and spend money.

Mr. Ridings was busy buying his own proposition. Swimming at the Oaks Manor Motel.

"One of the requirements is to have a swimming pool," said Mr.
Ridings, coming up like a seal.

"People with luxury accommodations want to join Master Hosts but, if they have no swimming pool, we tell them firmly, 'Build one first, then we'll see.'"

"Kidney shaped or squared off?"

"It should have water in it, that's the main thing. We now have 67 members in the United States, Canada and Mexico. At our last meeting, we took in 10 new members and turned down 13 until they can comply with our requirements. How do you find accommodations on the highway?"

"Fair to terrible."

"Our trend is the new trend in highway living. We require swimming pool, room service, laundry, cleaning and bellboy service, an approved dining room, free parking, a private bath with every room,
and," said Mr. Ridings, "the bath MUST be constructed of tile or comparable material." He went under water again and popped out beside the ladder.

"Resort living," he said. "Every room must have a telephone with 24-hour switchboard connections.
The establishment must be approved by the AAA. Do you know how many places are approved?"

"Do I win a lot or do I just get a consolation Cadillac?" I said cautiously.

"Of 55,000 motels, AAA approves only 8,000. Of 19,000 hotels, they approve only 4,000!" He did a graceful swan dive and came up beaming.

"I am in the public relations business in Fort Worth," said Mr.
Ridings.

"I'd never have guessed," I murmured.

With more than half the population on the highways, a good motel room is a rare thing, indeed. Reserve a room ahead or get off the highway by 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

After two weeks of this, I have decided the average motel is about 10 units. It is run by a large suspicious woman who has spotted you as a towel thief the minute you walked in the door.

She has a small, sandy husband.
He gets the bucket of ice out of the icebox and shows you how to run the air-conditioner. They are gloomy people who have sampled all life's disappointments. Apparently the most disappointing was the motel business.

Mr. Ridings said part of Master Hosts' requirements was capable management.

"You mean service with a smile?"

"A lot of it is laughs, if you know what I mean," said Mr. Ridings. "I could tell you some stories.
One of our assets is the teletype system. A member can teletype ahead to the next member for reservations and that member must accept the call and pay for it. Even if he is filled up.

Join In Protest

Of Bus Rate Hike

The Associated Retailers Thursday joined the city of Omaha in the protest against a rate increase for the Omaha Transit Co.

The railway commission has scheduled a hearing for July 16.

The company asks for a straight cash fare of 20 cents for adults.
The present rate is two tokens for 35 cents.

The retailers in their protest asserted that working people, retired pensioners, and housewives dependent on the buses for transportation would be adversely affected by the proposed increase.

The total budget amounts to $354-697, compared with $310,832 for the current year, and the total tax-

SOMEWHAT EMBARRASSING FOR OFFICIALS—

'Security Risk' Scientist Keeps Thinking Top-Secret Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators heard Thursday about a security-barred scientist who "unfortunately" keeps coming up with secret and top-secret ideas.

Trevor Gardner, former assistant secretary of the Air Force, outlined the case to a Government Operations subcommittee as a "classic example" of how the government's security system sometimes does not "meet the practicalities of the situation."

The testimony was an offshoot in the subcommittee's inquiry into policy on the release of government information.

Gardner made his own estimate that "at least half" of the papers now classified need not be secret. He said he thinks "we are deluding ourselves if we think we are keeping very much secret" from the potential enemy.

Gardner, who resigned earlier this year in a dispute with superiors over research and development funds, told the subcommittee that "quite frequently" a person will get security clearance from one branch of the armed services but not from another. And if one service bars a man, he said, the other won't hire him.

Gardner told of a scientist of "international reputation" whom the Air Force wanted to put to work. He said another service had refused the man security clearance. The man's name and the other service were not specified.

"Unfortunately, the man keeps coming up with secret and top-secret ideas," Gardner continued. So the Air Force gave the man a nonsecret contract, he said, and puts a secrecy stamp on some of the results when the man's work comes in.

The subcommittee also heard Ret. Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, who for years served as Army chief of information. He contended present limits on the Army's public information funds are "totally inadequate, completely unrealistic and artificial."

Doing away with "this limitation," he said, would "remove one of the major blocks impeding the free flow of information."

Parks said that by last year Army information funds had been cut to $300,000 from past budgets of about four million dollars.

Parks testified the Army needs a trained corps of officers to get news to the public, since military men are by experience inclined to keep information within the service. Reporters, he said, should be allowed to get news directly from each service rather than go through the Defense Department.

The retired general formerly was information officer under five civilian secretaries and four chiefs of staff.

"Not one of them," he said, "used the Army for propaganda or personal publicity or tried to withhold legitimate news from the people."

Gardner said secrecy stamps are often slapped on documents to save "embarrassment" rather than to guard national security. He recommended a "National Secrets Act" to define and hold down matters that should be classified and to stiffen penalties for disclosure.

Gardner further testified that:

1. The velocity of a ballistic missile which would go 5,000 miles was at one time an official secret—but could be figured out from information available in a high school textbook.

2. The United States refused the French use of certain proximity fuses in the battle for Dien Bien Phu in Indochina because the fuses were "top secret." The Air Force later discovered 20,000 of the fuses were stored in France, guarded only by French guards.
